Sudden Death of Miss Elizabeth Ladd -Mrs. Henry G. Huntington Dies in Hartford-S. Y. Tsao at First Congregational Church.

The unexpected death due to heart disease of Miss Elizabeth Ladd occurred Saturday morning at the home of her piece. Mrs. Adeline Published Mrs. Pown street. Miss Ladd was born in Norwich, early going to Colchester, where she had lived until a short time ago, when she came here. Hers was a long and useful life, her quiet influ-ence in the home and among her neighbors was always for good. From neighbors was always for good. From the home in which she took such a loving interest she will be greatly missed. Miss Ladd leaves one brother, John Ladd, of Middletown.

CONDITIONS IN CHINA Described by S. Y. Tsao at First Congregational Church.

S. Y. Tsao, graduate of Yale, now vard, and general secretary of Chinese Y. M. C. A. work in this country, addressed the audience at the First Congregational church Sunday morning. The state of Connecticut is dear to me he said, for whatever I learned of the Suiti I learned at New House. of the Spirit I learned at New Haven, I wish to speak of the opportunities and problems to be faced on the other side of the world and will take for my text The ends of the earth shall see the salvation of God.

Following in the wake of the revo-lution of one year ago are other revo-lutions to take place, and in these the kingdom of God is to show its power. We have discarded aristocracy, in-equality, special privileges and conser-vative ideas. We aim towards the democratic and progressive ideas of your nation. The three revolutions are social, industrial and religious.

The country is changing from agri-cultural to industrial. Men and wom-en instead of working in the fields are being forced to work in mills. Keenness of competition forces men to work hard for little pay and is forcing thousands of children into the mills. We want the ideas that Christian nations have wrought out by painful experience, we want these ideas quickto forestall the wrongs we see in ew of these sudden changes. Within the next one hundred years the whole country ought to be conwrited and covered with churches. With the new government we have adopted the Sunday. There were only official holidays under the old regime during the year. Christ's kingdom will come every year more and more Chi nese students are interested in the work of the church. During the past four years 400 have joined the Chinese Y. M. C. A. in this country, more than one-half are not Christians. We want them to surrender themselves to Christian work, that is the spirit we want them to learn in this country. We are sure the ends of the world will see the salvation of our God.

Mrs. Henry G. Huntington. The death of Mrs. Henry G. Huntington, which occurred Saturday at he home in Hartford, brought sincere sor-row to many here who knew her years $50, when with her husband she was a member of the First Congregational church, and also to those who have met her during her visits here. Mrs. Huntington's last visit was at the time of the Huntington family reunion last September, when she was the guest of her niece, Mrs. M. L. Verrington. Her son, S. G. Huntington, delivered the historical address and is compiling the second history of the Huntington family.

There were 14 calls in the month, of which five were bell alarms. A number of the first were in locations that promised a destructive blaze if they had not been checked in time, but the prompt responses robbed them of this threatened danger.

OBSTACLES TO FAITH.

Pride, Levity of Mind, Corruption of Manners Are the Principal Ones, Rev. T. A. Grumbly Declares.

Faith, an act of the intellect and will, coupled with divine grace, was the subsct of Rev. Thomas A. Grumbly's sermon at the high mass in St. Patrick's church yesterday, the fourth Sunday in Lent. The principal ob-stacles to faith are pride, levity of mind and corruption of manners. The preacher explained how these three obstacles prevent men from be-lieving in Christ, although He was an historical person, proving His divin-ity by His miracles and prophesies, it is logical to believe that He left a custodian of the truths, which He taught, in His church, which is a bea-con light on the path to salvation. Faith cannot be secured so much by philosophy as by prayer. The lesson philosophy as by prayer. The lesson feduced was the necessity of humble prayer and the duty of aiding in the diffusion of faith.

The high mass was celebrated by Rev. William F. Cayanaugh. The offertory was Dr. Jules Jordan's Ave Maria, finely sung by John Sullivan.

THE CHINESE REVOLUTION

SHOWN IN PICTURES With Descriptive Narrative by J. M. Clinton and Y. S. Tsae-Large Attendance at Davis Theater.

An interesting account of conditions in China was given by J. M. Clinton, who is engaged in work among the Chinese students in Toklo, Japan, and Chinese students in Tokio, Japan, and Y. S. Tsao of China, a Harvard student and secretary of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. of America, at the meeting for men under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the Davis theater Sunday afternoon. The audience was an interested one and filled the pit of the theater to its capacity. Vice President James C. Macpherson of the Y. M. C. A. presided at the meeting. The programme opened with selections by Swahn's orchestra and hymns, illustrated by the selections of the transfer of the selections. trated by the stereopticon, were sung by the audience. Rev. G. H. Ewing read from the Scripture and Rev. F. C. Cunningham offered prayer. Praise Ye the Pather and In Heavenly Love Abiding were sung in a pleasing man-ner by the male cherus of twenty voices and were much enoyed. General Secretary Starkey told of a plan of the local association to start a foreign ex-tension fund to aid in the work among the Chinese students in Japan.

China No Longer Iselated. In introducing the speaker Vice President Macpherson told of his work in China and Japan. Mr. Clinton sald In part: It is only within a short time that the people of the world have thought seriously of China. We no longer think of it as an independent, isolated nation. Modern conveniences have brought the world together, have lessened distances until today it is no farther from Norwich to Shanghai than it was from Norwich to Chicago yesterday. Today we think in terms of the world and not merely of Norwich, or Connecticut, or the United States, even. Today we are interested in the whole world. We can never live to was referred to the senate committee on appropriations and was disagreed to but when the bill came up last night he again offered it in open senate and it was agreed to and made a part of the bill.

This is of considerable importance to the school as unless the provision of last year is repealed the school will go out of existence.

Today we are interested in the whole the whole world. We can never live to the highest that is in us until we come in contact with all men of the world. Today I think of the great possibilities and the future strength of China. Thus, and Richard Giey. among the nations of the world. The Chinese are not warlike, but a peace-able, peace loving people.

The historian of the future when writing up the world's history will mark the past ten years as one of the greatest periods in the world's history. The discovery of America was a great point in the history of the world but the discovery of China, of her possibilities, her awakening, which is now going on will mark another turning point in history. China is a land of when the guests arrived, but he was soon routed out to receive the felicitations of his friends.

Seartling acrobatic stunts were performed by A. D. Zabriskie: Thomas McClimon completely mystified his audience with some marvelous feats in legerdemain; solos were sung by Arthur Shedd and Mr. Kennedy, while the quartette consisting of A. D. Zabriskie, Walter McClimon, Frank Palmer and Linwood Crary made a great hit with an original parody on Everybody's Doin' It, accompanied on the plano by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Frank Palmer.

Dainty refreshments were served by Miss Annie McClimon and Mrs. A. D. Zabriskie. The gathering broke up at a lae hour, after speending a very enjoyable evening and wishing Mr Kennedy many returns of the day. been many elements to bring about this revolution, but the greatest power of all in carrying the Chinese on to liberty has been Jesus Christ. The transformation which has so far been effected was not accomplished in a day, but the young men of the country have been striving to bring it to pass for years. I believe that China will soon take her place among the nations of the world. She will do it if the men and women of this country are willing to give money and prayers and perhaps their lives for China. Whether or not China is going to be a great and good and strong nation depends largeupon the men and women of this ountry. Mr. Clinton showed a numper of stereopticon views of China and
